Starting a Business

Instructor: Scott Clark

Dates: August 27, September 3, 10, & 17

Time: 6-8 pm

Location: BOCES Media Center

Cost: $60

Small businesses are the backbone of any economy whether national or local. They are responsible for, on average, two-thirds of the net jobs created in any given year while also serving as a significant force driving innovation in the American economy. When small businesses thrive, the economy thrives and people thrive.

This course is designed for those who want to start a small business. It covers the essentials from the original idea to assessing the competition, funding, marketing and pricing, and sales. The focus is on ways to avoid the pitfalls of startups and how to better take advantage of a now booming American economy from southwest Wyoming.

Scott W. Clark graduated with a degree in law in the 1980s. He practiced law for a time and found himself gravitating more to the business side of things. He served as general counsel to two companies in the U.S. and has taught business and critical thinking courses in graduate schools here in the U.S. and in Eastern Europe. He also was a consultant in Ukraine where he specialized in business start-ups.
