October BOCES Blocks

(Building a foundation through community education & skill sets)

ED2GO non-credit classes.

Update your skills, discover a new talent, or chart a new career path at your own pace and at your convenience!

Our instructor-facilitated online courses are informative, fun, convenient, and highly interactive. All courses run for six weeks (with a two-week grace period at the end). Courses are project oriented and include lessons, quizzes, hands-on assignments, discussion areas, supplementary links and more.

How to Get Started:

1. Visit our Online Instruction Center at: www.ed2go.com/kemmoutreach
2. Click the Orientation link and follow the instructions to enroll and pay for your course. You will also be provided an opportunity to choose the name and password you will use to access your online course. This step is critical! You cannot access your course until you complete orientation.
3. When your course starts, return to our Online Instruction Center and click the Classroom link. To begin your studies, simply log in with the name and password you provided during orientation.

Ed2Go classes approved for Professional Teaching Standards Board (PTSB)

To substitute teach in Wyoming, you must apply for a Substitute Teacher Permit. This permit is valid for five years and is eligible for renewal. In order to reinstate a lapsed permit, you must acquire five (5) semester hours of transcript credit or other professional development credit as approved by PTSB. Students can take any education related course. Each Ed2Go course listed is worth 1.5 units, 7 units of Ed2Go will equal .5 credits towards the 5 credits needed.

For information on reinstatement of a lapsed permit call PTSB at 307-777-7291.

Creating Classroom Centers

Discover how easy and effective classroom centers can really be! In this course, you'll learn how to create and implement activities that boost independent learning in the classroom. You'll start out by learning what centers are (and aren't), what benefits they offer, and how to make the most of them. Next, you'll explore some very common mistakes teachers make with centers and gain tips for keeping your planning time to a minimum. You'll also get step-by-step instructions for creating a centers schedule all your students can use independently—even if they can't read. The insights you'll gain will show you how to adjust your centers routine for both your fastest learners and those who need more time. Short on classroom space? You'll get great ideas for storing your centers and explore some alternatives to having a permanent spot for every center. You'll master an easy, effective process for introducing centers and their materials to your students, and develop strategies for what to do when things don't go quite as planned.

Increased small-group instruction time is one of the biggest benefits of centers, and you'll explore the kinds of instruction you can pursue during centers time.

We'll explore ideas for using centers to support instruction in math, science, and social studies. You'll also see how you can use technology (such as virtual bulletin boards, apps, and interactive white boards) in your centers to help keep your students engaged.

FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid)

What is federal student aid? It's money from the federal government—specifically, the U.S. Department of Education—that helps you pay for college, career school, or graduate school expenses. Federal student aid is available through grants, work-study, and loans every year.

Who gets federal student aid? Every student who meets certain eligibility requirements can get some type of federal student aid, regardless of age or family income. If you are a student, some of the most basic eligibility requirements are that you must • demonstrate financial need • be a U.S. citizen or an eligible noncitizen • have a valid Social Security number • be registered with Selective Service if you're a male between the ages of 18 and 25 • be enrolled or accepted for enrollment in an eligible degree or certificate program • be enrolled at least half-time • maintain satisfactory academic progress • and show you're qualified to obtain a college or career school education. Find more details about eligibility requirements at StudentAid.gov/eligibility.
